JAPANiCAN ANSWERS THE QUESTION: How Will You Spend Your 12,000 Yen Government Payout?

TOKYO, JAPAN – JAPANiCAN.com, a leading Japan travel website, chimed in on the Japanese government's cash handout plan under Prime Minister Taro Aso, which will distribute at least 12,000 yen to all residents of Japan. Many local governments have already distributed forms to apply for the payout to foreign residents possessing a Certificate of Alien Registration. JAPANiCAN has given its suggestions for travel on the government's yen once that money arrives with a list of hotels in Kyoto, Osaka, and the Fuji/Hakone area within the 12,000 yen per-person budget, as well as tour and travel packages delivering unique aspects of Japanese culture.

JAPANiCAN's suggestions range from budget hotels in Osaka and Kyoto to a full weekend package including transportation and stay at the Hakone Prince Hotel onsen resort for JPY 11,900 per person. The company has also introduced a range of tours that will let Japan residents get a bit more in touch with their host culture, like making sushi or attending a geisha performance in Tokyo. Those wondering how to spend their 12,000 yen from the Japanese government can find out more at JAPANiCAN's campaign page, located at <http://www.japanican.com/special/12000yen>.
